

DENNIS AND SHARRON CAMPBELL

Dennis H. Campbell was born April 9, 1943 in Salt Lake City to Dennis Henry Anderson and Lucille Fife.

Sharron Dee Dent was born January 23, 1943 in Oakland, California to Alfred Oscar Dent and Janice Morrison.

They were married June 3, 1967 in the Oakland, California temple. They met at Brigham Young University. They have five children: Troy Alan, born May 21, 1968 in Provo, Utah, Derek Reed, born November 16, 1970 in Bountiful, Utah, Tara Leigh, born February 25, 1975 in Heber City, Utah, Shalyce Marie, born July 11, 1978 in Heber City, Utah, and Tiffany Ann, born October 13, 1982 in Heber City, Utah.

Dennis attended grade school in Salt Lake City, then after his parents were divorced, his mother married Charles Reed Campbell. They moved to Dayton, Idaho where his new father lived and owned a farm. Dennis and his brother Ron were adopted by Reed Campbell and sealed in the temple. Dennis went to high school in Dayton, Idaho. He was very active in drama, music and school leadership. He starred in three operettas and the school play. He was also elected high citizen for the state of Idaho. After high school, he went to Utah State University, then to Rick's College. He then left for a mission to the gulf states. He was fortunate to be able to serve as assistant to the mission president for a year. After his mission, he went to Brigham Young University where he majored in sociology.

After their marriage, Dennis continued to attend Brigham Young University. He graduated with his bachelor of science one week after Troy was born. He went to one year of graduate school before leaving school to go into the seminaries and institutes. He taught in Bountiful at Viewmont High for two years. Dennis was elder's quorum president in Bountiful and basically held priesthood related positions. From Bountiful, we went to Driggs, Idaho to teach. Dennis was principal of the two man seminary. From Driggs, we left the seminary program to pursue a business interest in California. We spent two years in California. We lived in Orange and Mission Viejo. We returned to the seminary program in August of 1974 and we were sent to Heber, Utah. We lived in the Heber Second ward for two years and then we moved into our home and the Heber Third Ward.

Six months after we moved into the Heber East Stake, Dennis was called to serve in the stake presidency as first counselor with President Larry Duke. When they divided the stake, he was released and is now serving as first counselor in the Stake Sunday School. He taught seminary at the old junior high seminary on Main Street and over saw the new seminary building at the middle school. He then taught at the high school and served as principal for several years. In 1985, he taught at Orem Junior High and is taking a leave in 1986 to pursue a master's degree at Brigham Young University.

Sharron was raised in Oakland and attended school. In high school, she attended early morning seminary and was a cheerleader and in pep clubs and sororities. After working in San Francisco for one year, she attended Brigham Young University with a major in sociology. After a year, she returned home and worked as a dental assistant for two years and fulfilled a stake mission with her sister as her companion. When she returned to Brigham Young University, both her sisters were her roommates. It was at BYU that she met and married Dennis.

Sharron has held many ward positions including Sunday school teacher, primary and MIA teacher, ward primary first counselor and president, stake primary president and ward young women's president. Sharron enjoys working and has worked at Wasatch County Hospital as a ward clerk for nine years. She trained for the job at Utah Valley Hospital while Dennis was in school. She enjoys sewing and reading.

Dennis's hobbies include being an avid fan of BYU sports and music.

Troy worked for Claude Hicken on the farm for seven years and was given the opportunity to learn to work. He wrestled, played football and was on the speech team at school. He is now head lifeguard and pool manager at the Homestead. He graduated from high school in May 1986.

Derek enjoys wrestling and playing football and is working with Troy at the Homestead.

Tara enjoys music. She is taking piano and sings with the Children's Chorus and also has enjoyed the Fantastic's Drill Team.
